

Susanne Kaae is a trained pharmacist and has worked for 6 years as a community pharmacist before joining academia. Special research areas include: pharmacy practice i.e. implementation of cognitive services and in relation to that at the counter communication. Susanne Kaae has published several articles in the area and has been in charge of teaching activities for pharmacy students and staff in pharmacy communication along with being principal investigator of several pharmacy projects engaged in investigating pharmacy communication.